PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

This 19th-century bronze profile plaque of Mercury, mounted on a custom wooden base, exemplifies classical artistry at its finest. Expertly cast in bronze, the plaque features a detailed relief of Mercury, the Roman god of commerce and communication, identifiable by his winged helmet. The intricate craftsmanship highlights Mercury's well-defined features and the flowing lines of his helmet, all enhanced by a rich patina that adds to its antique appeal. This plaque is a perfect acquisition for collectors of mythological art and 19th-century bronzes. Its timeless elegance makes it a distinguished addition to any sophisticated decor or art collection. Measures: 11" x 5" x 16.5"
