Mid-Century Starburst Mirror France or Italy, circa 1950s–1960s This striking mid-century starburst mirror exemplifies the exuberant decorative language of postwar European design. Radiating hand-cut wooden rays form a dramatic sunburst surround, finished in layered gilt tones with warm red undertones that add depth and visual richness. The central mirror is set within a molded circular frame, creating a sculptural focal point that reflects light beautifully from multiple angles. Starburst mirrors of this scale and quality were produced in France and Italy during the mid-20th century, inspired by earlier Baroque and Rococo sun motifs and reinterpreted for modern interiors. The bold geometry and expressive surface finish make this piece equally suited to a classic or contemporary setting, functioning as both a mirror and a wall-mounted work of art. Dimensions: 43.5" L × 3" W × 43.5" H
