PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

This early 20th-century terrestrial globe, measuring 18" x 18" x 22", rests on a sturdy cast iron base, blending educational utility with antique charm. The globe features detailed cartography, offering a glimpse into early 20th-century geography, while the cast iron base, with its intricate design and robust construction, provides a stable foundation. The patina on both the globe and the base enhances its vintage appeal, making it not only a functional piece but also a decorative accent that adds historical character to any study, library, or living space. Measures: 18" x 18" x 22"
