PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

"En Marche" by Hasharat is a meticulously arranged contemporary entomological artwork featuring an exceptional selection of mounted beetles, weevils, and orthopterans displayed in a marching vertical composition within a shadowbox frame. The piece showcases the extraordinary natural coloration and iridescence of numerous species, including jewel beetles (Buprestidae), longhorn beetles (Cerambycidae), scarab beetles such as Chrysina and Cetonia species, weevils from the Eupholus group, Harlequin flower beetles (Gymnetis), tiger beetles, and two striking centerpiece specimens: a large blue-and-cream longhorn moth-like beetle and a vivid pink-winged grasshopper (Acrididae). Rendered with scientific precision and artistic harmony, the composition highlights the diversity of form, pattern, and sheen across global insect families. The work is presented in a clean, museum-style frame and remains in excellent condition—an impressive fusion of natural history and contemporary design that serves equally as an educational display and a bold decorative statement. 15.25" H x 10.25" W x 2" D
