PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

A captivating representation of a hunting setter, this patinated bronze sculpture, crafted by the skilled hands of Thomas François Cartier (1879-1943), encapsulates the timeless grace and spirit of the beloved canine companion. Hailing from Marseilles, Cartier distinguished himself as a renowned French sculptor, with a particular mastery in capturing the essence of animals in his works, which were not only cast in bronze but also in elegant white metal. Beyond standalone sculptures, his artistry found expression in multifaceted forms, adorning clocks and various decorative pieces, further enriching the realms of both art and functionality with his distinctive touch.
