PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

19th Century Gustavian Daybed: Gustavian daybed is a type of seating furniture that was popular in Sweden during the late 18th and early 19th centuries. It is characterized by its simple yet elegant design, which reflects the Gustavian style that was prevalent during that era. The Gustavian style was inspired by French Neoclassicism and was named after King

Gustav III of Sweden, who ruled from 1771 to 1792. The style emphasized symmetry, proportion, and a restrained color palette, with white and pale gray being the dominant hues. This daybed itself is made from high-quality materials and features elaborately carved wood sides. The carvings are intricate and detailed, featuring delicate foliage motifs and other decorative elements that showcase the craftsmanship of the era. Overall, This 19th Century Gustavian daybed with elaborately carved wood sides is a beautiful and timeless piece of furniture that exemplifies the elegance and sophistication of the Gustavian style.
