The atelier, run by a family with generations of experience in silverwork, has been working with Creel and Gow for over 20 years. The result is a collection of functional and beautiful pieces that showcase the skill and creativity of both parties. The atelier's reputation for excellence in silverwork is further evidenced by their restoration work for the Vatican. Overall, the Creel and Gow collection is a valuable and treasured investment, with each piece a true masterpiece of craftsmanship Pleurotus eryngii is the largest species in the oyster mushroom genus, Pleurotus, which also contains the oyster mushroom Pleurotus ostreatus. It has a thick, meaty white stem and a small tan cap (in young specimens). Its natural range extends from the Atlantic Ocean through the Mediterranean Basin and Central Europe into Western Asia and India. Unlike other species of Pleurotus, which are primarily wood-decay fungi, the P. eryngii complex are also weak parasites on the roots of herbaceous plants, although they may also be cultured on organic wastes. Molds cast from real fruits and vegetables.
