PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Exquisite Taxidermy Black Hairy Clawed Cochin Chicken, a stunning representation of the Cochin breed, which boasts a rich history dating back to the 1840s and 1850s when large feather-legged chickens were introduced from China to Europe and North America. Renowned for its imposing size and captivating presence, the Cochin Chicken, once referred to as Cochin-China, has been primarily cherished for its exhibition-worthy allure. This meticulously crafted specimen captures the essence of this iconic breed, making it an extraordinary addition to any collector's repertoire.
